Body: expression and structuring of psychism

Nancy Moreno Dueñas

Summary:

The work looks through the treatment of a child with mielomeningocele. The psychoanalytical processes of contention are emphasized, so as the emotions hard to understand and think, for the child and also for her environment that accompany her. It is possible to create a space where the analyst, through reverie processes, attends the development of thinking of the patient.

Descriptors:

Body, physical incapacity, psychic development, thinking, frame.